Mill Levy Election May Use Machine Counting

Hassett: 'Could Give Final Tally in Few Hours; Machines Donated by IBM'

Omaha University's special mill levy election April 23 may be the first election in Nebraska history in which the "trend" is known only minutes after the polls close.

A bill (LB-424) currently before the Unicameral would allow Douglas and Lancaster counties to experiment with ballots which could be counted electronically.

Machine May Count Votes

Douglas County Election Commissioner Jerry Hassett said International Business Machine (IBM) representatives have offered to provide machines for the OU election at no cost.

The machines would count the ballots which must be marked with a special pencil similar to those used in electronic-graded tests at OU.

Voters would not be using machines to mark their ballots, Hassett explained, the machines would only do the counting.

"There's been some misunderstanding about that point," he said.

Ballots could be counted at the rate of 800 per minute, he said, "and that's revolutionary." Hassett said he thinks LB-

424, which carries the emergency clause and needs 29 votes to pass, will be approved by the Unicameral "in the next week or 10 days."

If LB-424 is approved, "the plan is to move all electronic vote-counting equipment into the City Auditorium."

At midafternoon on election day, those ballots which had been cast at that time would be brought to the Auditorium for counting.

And 'Ready to Roll'

As soon as the polls close at 8 p.m. "we would be ready to roll," Hassett said.

"In a matter of only a few minutes we would be able to determine the trend of the election by running the business card ballots through the electronic counting machines."

The final tally probably would be completed in less than three hours, he said.

"I want to make it clear this would be machine counting—not machine voting," he said.

Votes Would Be Retained

"Under this system we can retain the ballots and count them by hand in case of a recount—something you can not do with voting machines," Hassett noted.

The Commissioner said the electronic counting system would not save in personnel cost during a special election, "but the saving in time would be tremendous."

However, he said "a cut of 1500 persons on a counting board could be made in a general election."

A counting board is not required in a single-issue special election, Hassett said, "but we still have to have an inspector and three judges at each polling place."

Hassett said he does not plan a special "register and vote" campaign "unless I find a specific area where it's needed."

"I don't think an all-out registration drive is needed for the OU mill levy election because it follows so close on the heels of the Omaha School Bond election."

OU to Pay for Election

Hassett said Omaha U, as required by law, will pay the cost of the April 23 election which he estimated at $42,500.

Voters will be asked to approve an increase of the OU property tax levy from two mills to four mills.

Proposal for Slacks Held to Next Meeting By Program Committee

A proposal to allow girls to wear slacks in the Student Center was tabled until the March 19 meeting of the Student Center Program Committee.

This ruling that girls may not wear slacks, bermudas, or blue jeans, except for Mai-E Day in the Student Center has been in effect since the building was opened.

If the Student Center Program Committee approves the wearing of slacks in the Student Center under certain circumstances, it will then draw up a recommendation which will be passed on to the Student Activities Committee and to the University Administration.

The Administration will then vote upon the recommendation.

Grade Processing Speeded by IBM

The number of suspensions this semester at the University of Omaha is higher than in the past due to the installation of the IBM Data Processing equipment.

Dean of Student Personnel, Donald Pflasterer, said that the number of suspensions is up because of the IBM's speed in processing grades. He went on to say that in the past it took six to seven weeks to process the grades by hand. The new IBM system processes grades in two to three days.

'Far More Quickly'

The speeding up of the grade processing enables the Administration to consider the standing of a student far more quickly and the appropriate action can be taken before the next semester gets too far underway.

Dean Pflasterer emphasized that "the University is not necessarily on a get tough policy but" he said "we are now in a position where we have a more effective control."

IBM Doesn't Suspend

On the subject of Academic Probations, Dean Pflasterer noted that the IBM machines are now able to put students on probation when their averages fail to meet university requirements. However, Dean Pflasterer stated that "the IBM machines DO NOT SUSPEND students."

Dean Pflasterer said that only the Committee on Academic Standing has the power to suspend. Suspension is imposed after the university has warned the student of his failure by putting him on probation. He said that "probation is not a punishment but an alert that the student is falling below the required standards. Suspension comes only when this alert is unheeded."

Official Notices

Graduating June or July Seniors! Important meeting March 6 at 12 noon to discuss senior activities. The meeting will be held in Room 313 of the Student Center.

Omaha University Lutheran students are invited to hear the Rev. D. R. Fichtelman, district co-ordinator of Lutheran Campus Ministry, speak to the Omaha chapter of Gamma Delta. He will address Gamma Delta, a Lutheran student organization, at the First Lutheran Church, 31st and Jackson Sts., Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

The E-T's will play for the Friday Dance from 3 to 4:45 in the Ouampi Room.

A movie, "The Revenge of Frankenstein" will be shown Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the Ballroom of the Student Center.

The Student-Faculty Art Show will be held at the Joslyn Memorial starting March 3. One-third of the art work will be submitted by the Art Dept. faculty and two-thirds of the work by the art students. The pieces will not be for sale at Joslyn, but many will be in an art auction in April.

Campaign literature for the Omaha University mill levy may be picked up at either the Alumni Association office or General Printing Information office.

Library Bids Run Below Predictions

Foster-Smetana Is Low With $346,305; Completion Date Set at Dec. 30, 1963

Bids for the two new additions to the library were opened Tuesday afternoon. The low bids ran considerably under the amount the administration expected to pay.

Foster-Smetana submitted the low bid of $346,305 for the general construction. They set their completion date for December 30, 1963.

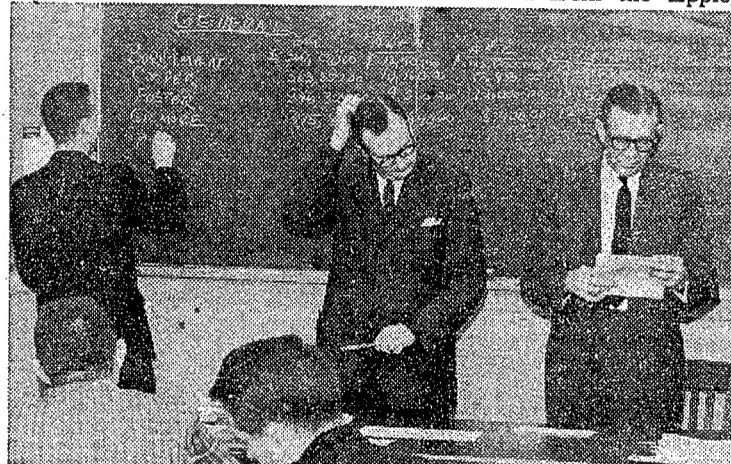

The next low bidder was the A. Borchman and Sons Co. at $360,750.

J. J. Hannigan was lowest of six bidders with a bid of $86,749 for mechanical installations. This includes the heating and plumbing.

The Carl E. Wallin Electric Company submitted the low bid of $29,385 for electrical work on the two wings.

Total of $462,439

Total cost of the library additions will be $462,439, partly financed by a grant of $290,000 received from the Eppley

Varro Rhodes, vice president of the Board of Regents (right), and Kirk Naylor, Dean of Administration, open bids on the construction of the new library wings.

Leads for 'Annie' Told by Dr. Clark

Omaha University Theater Director Dr. Edwin Clark has announced the rest of the cast for the Spring Musical, "Annie Get Your Gun."

Bob O'Neal plays Charley, Jerry Scheschy is Wilson, Mac is played by John Tremont and Buffalo Bill is Ron Bojanskil.

Dolly is Betty Bechtel, Pawnee Bill is played by Duayne Thompson and Ernie Carriere Portrays Chief Sitting Bull.

In the Chorus are Marleen McGuire, Kathleen McGuire, Joyce Hunter, Carole Buntz, Maureen Matthews, Cheryl Shields, Kathy Brady and Gretl Schmad.

The Chorus also includes Fred Wolford, Larry D. Porter, John Culjat, Russ Mullens, Harry Riederman and Bill Goodrich.

As announced last week Dorothy Davitt as Annie Oakley, Robert B. Larsen as Frank Butler, Jana Doxon as Winnie and Gary Wallace as Tommie will head the cast.

Songs include Irving Berlin favorites such as "There's No Business Like Show Business" and "Falling in Love is Wonderful."

"Annie Get Your Gun" will be produced March 28, 29 and 30 in the OU Administration Building Auditorium.

'Spain' Is Next Topic For Great 'Decisions'

"Great Decisions," the foreign affairs program moderated by Omaha University's Dr. Paul Beck will present "Spain—End of the Franco Era?"

Representing OU on the panel will be Dr. Raymond Smith, assistant professor of history and Dr. Cristobal Espinosa, head of the foreign language department. Dr. Roberto Esquenazi-Mayo, associate professor of romance languages, will appear for the University of Nebraska.

Foundation in July. This is $113,581 under the estimated cost.

Accommodating 750 additional students, the first floor will extend the periodicals room on the west and the reading and study area on the east; the second floor will increase the study area and open book stacks.

Construction is slated to get underway this month with John Latenser and Sons as architects.

Part of 10 Year Program

The library expansion is part of Omaha U's 10 year building program which includes a classroom addition to the Administration Building, an engineering addition to the Applied Arts Building, a Fine Arts Building and a gymnasium-swimming pool addition to the Field House.

University officials plan to finance much of the building program by increasing the OU property levy from two mills to four mills, if the increase is approved by the voters in the April 23 special election.

Volunteers Needed For OU Mill Levy Speakers Bureau

A newly organized Mill Levy Speakers Bureau will hold a special meeting for volunteer student and faculty speakers on Wednesday, March 6.

Robert McGranahan of General Publications and Information, said the meeting will be held at 3:30 in room 312 of the Student Center.

The meeting is to prepare the volunteer speakers for giving a four to five minute talk, urging Omahans to vote 'yes' for the upcoming mill levy increase proposal, he added.

About 40 students have volunteered so far, Mr. McGranahan said, but an additional 10 to 20 are needed. Volunteers, who need not be speech majors, may submit their names to the speech department.

The speakers will be called on to address day and night classes at OU, as well as downtown club meetings.

Injunction Filed To Stop Election

A motion was filed in the Nebraska Supreme Court Thursday asking for a temporary injunction to prevent the Omaha University mill levy election from being held April 23.

The injunction was asked in an appeal suit brought by two residents of School Districts 54 and 66 who contend the current two-mill levy in those districts is unconstitutional because they have no voice in the selection of the OU Board of Regents.

The plaintiffs want the election, which would allow the property levy to be doubled, barred until the Supreme Court case is completed.

GPI Gives Information To Local News Media

By Barb Hall

If you want to know anything about Omaha University, the Office of General Printing and Information (GPI) is the place to look.

All information concerning the University goes through this office headed by Robert McGranahan.

Every month an average of 10 to 12 news releases are sent to the Omaha area mass media which include the World-Herald, the Omaha Sun Newspapers and the radio and television stations.

Every month Mr. McGranahan publishes a pamphlet called "So That You May Know Your University Better" which is sent to the parents of Omaha University students and citizens of the Omaha area. This portrays some aspect of the University and life of the students. Approximately 7200 copies are sent out monthly.

Another important aspect of this office is to contact the news media about certain events at the University that they may wish to cover.

Features Presented

In the World-Herald and Sun Newspapers many features on the students as well as activities are presented. These have included such subjects as cheerleaders, new faculty members, registration, scholarship winners, TV classrooms, University Nights, World Affairs, interns and a variety of other subjects.

The fall months from September to November and March through June are the busiest for GPI. More is going on at the University in these months. Examples are the traditional homecoming and commencement activities.

OU's general catalog is printed by GPI every other year. Also, any folder which comes from the University is printed there. Two or three are printed a year and a two-year supply is made.

November was a typical month for GPI. Much of the activities centered around the Bowl Game. They did individual features on migration, the bowl queen, cheerleaders, Ouampi, band drum major, coaches and families, faculty from Oklahoma, President Bail and other short stories for use as column material in Oklahoma.

"Week Ahead"

Besides all this the "Week Ahead" and "Month Ahead" are sent out at their respective times.

The sports department is headed by Norm Taylor. He does all his own releases and features as well as putting out a brochure for every sport.

The office's recent project is providing the citizens of Omaha with information concerning the proposed mill levy. Folders and pamphlets have been prepared for distribution as well as feature material about the University which was sent to the news media.

Sophomore Dance Slated for March 8

The Sophomore class is sponsoring an all school dance March 8 from 9 to 12 p.m. in the Student Center Ballroom.

Johnny Ray Gomez and the U-Neeks will furnish the music. Everyone is invited; an activity card is all that is needed for admission. Casual dress is the attire.

Song Titles Offer Various Ideas for Sinfonie in Snow

by Sheri Hronek

Once again Omaha University students are hard at work planning their statues for the second annual Sinfonie in the Snow.

For those of you who don't know what a Sinfonie in the Snow is, let me explain. Greek organizations and I.S.A. choose an idea to correspond with the main theme. Then they build snow statues to illustrate their ideas. These sometimes get quite elaborate.

This is the week. The main theme is "Song Hits of 1962."

One of the songs chosen is "I Left My Heart in San Francisco." For this I foresee a statue of the Golden Gate bridge from the Admin. Building to the AA—complete with toll bridge for anyone who wants to beat the pedestrian traffic problem.

"Baby Elephant Walk" is another song. Ah, it's about that baby elephant I saw hidden in Elmwood Park!

"Do Re Me" will have Mary Martin—in person—in ice.

Another is "The Lonely Bull." Ah, it's about that bull I saw hidden in Elmwood Park. Only it's not lonely now—it's with the baby elephant.

"Moon River" will be under the Golden Gate Bridge.

Watch for the statues. The deadline for them is today.

Life Is Hectic for Operator of PBX

The average workday for Americans can begin anywhere from 5 a.m. to 11 a.m. But for busy PBX operator Mrs. Corrada Huntington at Omaha University it begins at 8 a.m.

Mrs. Huntington has been operating the switchboard at OU for the past thirteen years, and the job really keeps her moving. She said "I answer an average of 1200 calls a day and a peak load might amount to about 1700. The busiest times of the day are between classes and about an hour before the offices close."

"The most common problem" said Mrs. Huntington, "is that people often mispronounce names." "However," she said "the work is very interesting. When Mr. Beilis started the tele-lectures at OU I placed the calls to locate speakers. I got to talk to people all over the country."

When Mrs. Huntington started operating the switchboard, she gave general information people inquired about. Since then special offices have been organized for this purpose because of the growth of the school and the increase of the amount of calls per day.

The job has become so great that soon Mrs. Huntington will have a helper. The PBX office is going to be moved from the second to the third floor in the Administration Building and another switchboard will be installed.

Letter to the Editor

Keep the "Rude-athon" alive! Since I've been at O.U. I've begun to admire the girl that doesn't nod, smile or thank you for holding a door, lighting a cigarette or holding her hair for her. I also admire the male collegians who fail to hold the door, light the cigarette or hold the chair for the girl.

Let's continue to attend classes and never introduce ourselves or get to know our neighbors. Don't let yourself get in the habit of saying "hello," or "good-bye" or any other quaint phrase to your acquaintances when you pass them on campus. Don't ever remember names!

There is no finer virtue than the ability to hold yourself aloof from the student body.

There is no greater sin on campus (other than the sin of useless smiling) than that of showing interest in college functions. If you must attend functions, particularly athletic functions, try to display an air of superiority. Try to notice their faults and point them out to people less fortunate. The most effective criticism of an activity can be given by a person who is ill-advised or mailed to attend the activity.

Today and every day let us be rude to a minimum of three people a day, insult two and criticize one major sport and one minor activity.

Ray Krigsten

Letter to the Editor

Seniors where were you? Last Wednesday's senior meeting was attended by only a handful of people.

At the above meeting an issue was voted on and passed to allow wives and husbands to come to the senior dinner, but not to allow single seniors to bring dates. This means that the single seniors will have to leave the dinner and pick up their dates for the dance and then come back.

Several of you reading this article are against this plan, but you have no one to blame but yourselves. In our class, as it should be, the majority rules, so at next week's senior meeting lets have a large turnout to insure that all seniors ideas are brought out.

After working four years to get through college, it is a shame to sit back and be passive during these last few weeks. For the small amount of time it will take, your participation in senior projects will make them that much better. In the future years, these are the things that we will look back upon when we remember our college career.

Misako Surprised at American Teen-agers' Breakfast Habits

Misako: "I try to keep smiling."

By Patti Matson

"Ah, so! You want the vaneel-ia?" Perhaps you've heard a phrase or two sounding like the above, coming from a spry Japanese pollyanna behind the counter in the Ouampi Room. A pleasant smile and a friendly greeting usually meet her customers.

Misako Grage is this welcome addition to the Ouampi Room. She has worked at Omaha University one-and-a-half years and has been in America only about eight years.

She came to our country with her husband from Wakayama, a small city near Tokyo. Her husband, an American, met her during World War II as he was convalescing in a Tokyo hospital.

Misako expressed surprise at some of the American teen-agers' eating habits. In Japan, she laughed, boys and girls do not usually have Coca-Cola and chocolate ice cream at 7:15 in the morning!

Contrary to what one may think, the pert lady was not shocked by some of the extreme bouffant hair styles modeled by the University's coeds. They reminded her, she said, of the styles and wigs worn by her ancestors in the orient.

It was hard for Misako to become accustomed to American ways, but the numerous people who showed kindness have made her life a happy one. "I am very lucky," she says simply.

She likes younger people because "they understand." They take more time to go beyond her accent and understand what she is saying. World War II interrupted her chance to finish school. She feels that the people going to Omaha U. are lucky to have the opportunity that she should do what she can to make it a little more pleasant for them.

Among her happier memories at the University are the acquaintances she's made with bootstrappers who have previously spent time in the East. They have taken the time to converse with her in Japanese, and this has made her feel at home.

One of her proudest moments came in last May when she became a citizen of the United States. She went to night school for three months here at O.U. in order to fulfill the requirements.

Asked the secret of her ever-fresh appearance and youthfulness, Misako merely replied with her usual twinkling eyes, "I try to keep smiling."

Gomez's U-Neeks Well-Known at OU

"Johnny Ray Gomez and the U-Neeks" will play March 8th at the All-School Sophomore Dance. This is a familiar announcement to students who go to O.U.'s dances. The U-Neeks have played for many of the dances this year.

The combo was organized three and a half years ago by

Johnny Ray Gomez

Johnny Ray Gomez and is still under his leadership.

Johnny Ray, a sophomore at the university and a music major, is active in the University Choir and Men's Glee Club. He is affiliated with the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity.

Plays Accordion

Johnny has been playing the electric accordion organ for ten years.

At 14 Johnny Ray was named State Champion Accordion Player (57-58). He became World's Champion in Cleveland in '59. "That's when I decided to take my career seriously," Johnny said.

That year he signed a contract to go professional with an agent who saw his performance on the Ted Mack Show. He was 16.

The following year he went on a seven-week State Fair tour, entertaining in 19 states. Tex Ritter hosted the group.

Johnny's ambition is to "take the trio and go into night club entertaining." They have not been able to do this yet because of age restrictions.

"If this pans out," Johnny said, "I want to come back and start a music store with my brothers"—ages 15, 11, 7, and 4.

The two following Johnny play the guitar and the piano. The two youngest "would probably fill in the reed section," Johnny laughed.

Bowls 190 Average

Johnny bowls a 190 average. The fraternity team on which he plays now leads in intramural bowling. He has made several appearances on KMTV's Bonus Bowling programs, winning 12 out of 15 matches and over $750.

Johnny's friends are equally pleased after a winning game. As Mel Cunningham, fraternity brother, said: "After he wins you can always hit him for a dinner at Ross's."

He has been asked about his bowling interests, and whether he would like to go professional in this field instead. "I've been bowling for five years," he said, "but it's strictly a hobby. Music is my life."

Water Sports Club Open to All Students

The Water Sports Club held its first meeting of the year last Sunday at the Jewish Community Center.

Any interested student is invited to join the group which meets every yother Sunday evening at the JCC pool.

Thisy ear instruction periods will be offered to help beginning

The Fieldhouse, Stadium, and playing fields cost seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars and was completed in 1949.

Delta Rho Gamma Is New Frat on Campus; Had Tough Beginning

What is it like to start a fraternity? This question was asked of two members of Delta Rho Gamma, new social fraternity on campus.

"The first thing we had to do," said Bill Hutcheson, was to get permission from the administration. Then we had to be accepted by the Inter Fraternity Council and the Student Council.

"Our first real problem," said Peyton Whitely, "was in getting members. We couldn't appeal to guys with tradition like the other fraternities." He added that the Delta Rhos are starting a tradition now.

Mr. Hutcheson said that at the first the fraternity had trouble sticking together. Some of the members wanted to go national and others wanted to stay as a local.

Peyton Whitely said, "at first we wondered how the other Greeks would accept us, but they have been very helpful. I think they are all for us."

Candidates Named For Rose Queen

Five girls have been selected as candidates for the Rose Queen of Delta Sigma Pi.

The candidates are Janine Christensen, unaffiliated; Linda Hallquist, Sigma Kappa; Susan Rester, Zeta Tau Alpha; Karen Stacker, Alpha Xi Delta; and Earlene Timm, Chi Omega.

The winner will be announced at the Rose Dance which will be held April 27.

Information Office Is Small but Busy

A small but busy office on the Omaha University campus is the Information Office located on the first floor of the Administration Building.

The office is run by Jaunita Wells and is a service for the public, the students and the faculty. In short, anyone who has a question about Omaha University will find the answer from this office.

One major function of the office is to take calls inquiring about registration, the requirements of the school and the courses offered. Mrs. Wells said that she answers about 50 calls per day and talks to approximately 100 people who stop in seeking information.

In addition to talking to individuals, the office is in charge of mailing out all catalogs and other information about the University.

Another function of the office swimmers.

is to handle the registration for non-credit insurance and technical institute programs.

Mrs. Wells has been in charge of the office for 2½ years. Before that she was at the information desk at the Student Center.

Coed Skin Diving class begin March 18 at the Central YMCA. The classes will start at 7:30. All equipment is furnished. For further information call Joe Griffin, the instructor, at the YMCA Athletic Department.

Ochsner Makes Purchases Wisely To Make School Dollars Go Farther

by Barb Hall

What does Purchasing Agent James D. Ochsner do everyday? A little bit of everything would seem to be a good answer. Last semester he spent $105,224.00 excluding September, his busiest month.

Mr. Ochsner explained, "It is hard to estimate how much will be spent in one semester or one year because it varies according to building and expansion programs of a growing university."

Everything that is purchased at the University goes through his department with the exception of materials in the bookstore and books for the library.

When something is to be purchased a requisition originates in an individual department. After the Dean's approval is obtained, it is forwarded to the purchasing department. Now it can go out for bids or the requisition can be sent to the accounting department for approval of sufficient funds and approval by the comptroller. After this has been completed the order is placed with a vendor.

The University has no set amount for which Mr. Ochsner must obtain a bid; however, he obtains three bids for any amount exceeding $100.00.

Approximately 10,000 purchase orders were filled last year. Mr. Ochsner considers a minor purchase to be something like a roll of tickets, where a major purchase and one of the largest by the University so far was an order of about $20,000 to a single vendor for equipping the Student Center Building.

When asked what his basic idea regarding spending was Mr. Ochsner replied, "My philosophy in spending for higher education is that the buyer is sort of a man behind the scenes and the end result is the student. I'm really a service organization—to see that the tools to teach and the equipment to help the student learn are provided. As an agent of the taxpayers my job is to try to make their dollars go as far as they can."

Educational films, recordings, and film strips are available through the Audio-Visual Department located in the Gene Eppley Library.

10 Coeds Chosen as Best Dressed

Home Economics major Sandra Bloom was named the best dressed co-ed on the Omaha U. campus. The announcement was made Wednesday, Febr. 27 at a four p.m. tea held by the Home Economics Club in the Eppy Conference Center Lounge.

Other women in the top ten were Kay Borchman, Gail Browning, Carolyn Burdick, Margaret Carlberg, Linda Carrell, Judy Jensen, Shirley Johnson, Jackie Palmer and Sandy Weicheding.

Midge Butters, Kathy Bowman, Marcia Cathcart, Carol Ann Ehinger, Jean Seibel and Sue Weidenhammer were named to the Hall of Fame.

Six co-eds were named as honorable mentions. They are Marilyn Arundel, Ginny Bohaty, Jan Christensen, Leslie Hamilton, Ruth Meyers, and Colleen

IEEE Plans Telstar Show

The Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers will have a program about Telstar at their meeting at 7:00 tonight in Room 301, Student Center.

This meeting is also a kickoff for the second semester membership drive. The group is open to any student majoring in engineering or one of the related arts and sciences. Anyone interested is invited to the meeting.

The IEEE is the largest professional engineering society in the world, with student branches established in approximately 300 universities in the country. Their aims include the advancement of the theory and practice of engineering and related sciences.

The O.U. chapter is planning tours through the Hallam Atomic Power Plant and the Minnesota Mining and Mfg. Co. in Minneapolis.

In addition to these more scientific activities, the group is planning exchange parties, a dinner party for members, and several other social activities.

Richmond.

Sandy is planning to graduate after the first session of summer school. This is her first year at Omaha U. She attended Iowa State University for three years where she was a textiles and clothing major. Sandy is affiliated with Kappa Alpha Theta sorority. She makes most of her own clothes.

The girls were chosen on the basis of appropriateness of on and off campus apparel, good grooming, posture, management of clothing budget, and individuality in dress.

Jr. Prom Queen To Be Announced At Dance Tonight

Announcement of the Junior Prom Queen will be during the intermission of the Junior Prom tonight.

Candidates for Queen are Malanie Jeub, Zeta Tau Alpha; Shirley Johnson, Chi Omega; Maureen Matthews, Independent Students' Association; Georgia Ruby, Sigma Kappa, and Toni Turnquist, Alpha Xi Delta.

The all-school voting was Wednesday in the Ben Gallagher Game Room.

Bob Edson and his Band will play for the 9 to 12 p.m. dance. The Student Center Ballroom is the site of the semi-formal affair.

Midge Butters, the 1962 Prom Queen, will announce the winner, and President Milo Bail will present her with roses.

Lambda Chi Alpha Activation Slated

Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity will hold activation ceremonies March 1, 2 and 3 for the largest group to be initiated into the O.U. chapter.

Active candidates are: Dennis Anderson, Gary Barks, James Blair, Chris Brown, Thomas Burton, Richard Dodge, Harry Dotson, Frank Heinisch, Jr., Mike Jones, Neil Klocksien, Kenneth Koop, Roger Miller.

Others are: Norman Nelson, Frank Nocita, Kenneth Olsson, James Hassolt, Robert Petersen, James Rawlings, Thomas Ridley, James Solomonson, David Tritchler, Jan Valentic, Mike Weber and Richard Young.

The fraternity also took second semester pledges: Daniel Flood, Ron Jessen, Rich Novotny, Jim Prescher, Jim Shipley, Gary Steffens, Vern Wood.

There are nine religious organizations on campus for students.

Pi Kap Alpha Elects Officers, Adds Members

Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity took ten second semester pledges. They are: Randal Bauschman, Tom Catlin, James Cascoigne, Harvey Gilbert, Dave Harrington, Clyde Ketelsen, James Marquiss, Ron Potocnik, Dennis Stevens and Denny Young.

Those going active are: Mike Badura, Ron Barta, Chuck Cawley, Jim Grasso, Mark Hallgren, Craig Hoenshell, Larry Krehbiel, Jim Palmer, John Povilai, Mike Sweet, Rich Tompsett, Terry Turner and Dick Vassel.

New active officers recently elected are: Everett Robb, president; Ron Toman, vice president; Larry Lheureux, secretary; Chuck Saxton, treasurer; Ken Allen, sergeant at arms; Pat Halloran, pledge trainer; Larry Krehbiel, publicity chairman; Mike Sweet, historian.

Inter Fraternity Council representatives are Everett Robb, Dud Kersey and Craig Hoenshell.

The pledge officers are Harvey Gilbert, president; David Harrington, vice president; Dennis Stevens, secretary-treasurer; Ronald Potocnik, social chairman; James Marquiss, athletic chairman.

Zetas Select New Officers

Gail Browning was elected as president of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority Wednesday night.

Other officers are Mary Beth Meyers, vice president-pledge trainer; Marilou Thibault, vice president-rush chairman; Janet Grossman, secretary; Evette Abraham, treasurer; Malanie Jeub, historian; Dona Picking, liaison officer; Rosie Chlupacek, ritual chairman; and Ellen Goeer, Panhellenic representative.

The officers will be installed March 20.

Activation ceremonies are scheduled for March 8 at Trinity Cathedral.

Sabres Will Host Drake Drill Team

The University of Omaha's AFROTC Sabres Drill Team will play host to the Drake University team in a dual drill competition meet tomorrow afternoon.

Cadet 1st Lt. Art Z. Simon, Sabres Commander, said that the competition has been set for two o'clock in the Field House and that each team will perform for about ten minutes. The two schools rifle teams also will compete.

Next weekend the Sabres will be in Champaign, Ill., for the University of Illinois' National Invitational Tournament.

Show Case Placed In Student Center

A recent addition to the Student Center is a glass show case which will be used by Student Publications. It is located on the first floor by the Ouampi Room.

The display consists of photographs taken by journalism students.

There are several thousand photos on file so the display will be changed every two weeks.

The main purpose of the display is to "call attention to campus photography," said Paul V. Peterson, journalism department head.

Large Choice Of Languages Is Available

By Tom Behrens

Interested in foreign languages? If the answer is yes, you can find the language you want at Omaha University.

The foreign language department has made available a wide selection of languages. Not only do the courses seek to broaden one's intellect, but they also prepare the student for many diversified fields in the future.

Special Program

Foreign language courses available at OU range from French, Czech, German, Greek, and Italian to Latin, Portuguese, Russian, and Spanish. Besides the subjects above there is a special program for students interested in trade between the United States and Latin America. The Department offers a major in foreign languages for Inter-American Trade. This major includes Portuguese and Spanish.

The foreign language department is a pioneer in the modern method of teaching languages. Their policy advocates the development of oral ability. This is achieved by conversing in a foreign language, talks between the instructor and the student, and speeches given in class by the students.

There are French, German, and Spanish Clubs on campus to further the interest of the student. In years past valuable aid has come from bootstrappers taking foreign language courses. At club meetings they have contributed material in the form of slides, movies, and talks of their personal experiences.

Last semester 900 students took foreign language courses.

'More Space'

Dr. C. S. Espinosa, department head, said there is a need for more lab space because of increasing enrollment.

"In the future the Department would like to have 60 booths. Then it would be possible to hold the beginning class in one lab without splitting them up," said Dr. Espinosa.

Alumni Association Contacting January Graduating Seniors

Every graduate of Omaha University automatically becomes a member of the OU Alumni Association. January graduates are now being contacted and welcomed to the Association by Betty Davis, Executive Secretary of the Omaha chapter.

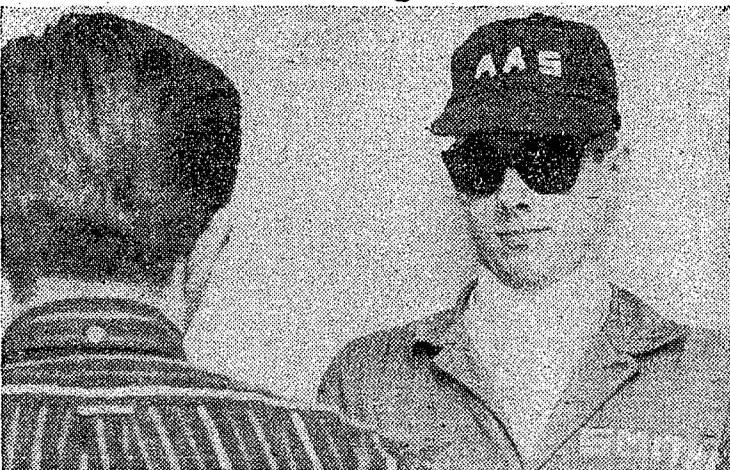

Through this standard procedure June, August, and January graduates receive a membership card and a general information form to be returned to the Alumni office.

This information enables the Association to keep in touch with each member.

Membership entitles the graduates to numerous Alumni benefits such as a Gene Eppley Library Card, free admission to OU's Institute of World Affairs, regular issues of the Alumni Newsletter and other publications, Homecoming and other reunion parties, reserved sections at special sports events and the University Theater productions as well as many other events initiated each year.

Any former two year student who is interested in the Alumni Association is also eligible for membership.

Duties for AAS Pledge Rather Odd

Arnold Air Society pledge Tiger Smith is being hazed by an active. Dick Smith along with Doug Falconer, Dennis Quinn, and Stan Menze are doing week-long pledge duties for the AAS, an auxiliary to the Air Force ROTC.

OU Debate Team Showing Strong

Four University of Omaha debaters are in St. Paul, Minnesota this weekend, participating in the St. Thomas debate tournament.

Dr. Aldrich Paul, head of the speech department, said the four students, Jim Goetcheus, John Cady, Stan Zwerling, and Max Voigt were scheduled to leave Wednesday afternoon and return this weekend.

One Team to Represent O.U.

One of the two teams with the best performance record at St. Thomas will appear as OU's representative in the men's division of the upcoming Nebraska State finals scheduled for March 8 and 9 at Omaha University. This tournament will be held on the third floor of the student center and is open to the public, Dr. Paul pointed out.

Last weekend, those four debaters plus seven other members of the team participated in the University of Nebraska Intercollegiate Debate Conference.

Dr. Paul said the debate teams of Roni Meyer-Arlene Grossman and John Cady-Jim Goetcheus both won three and lost three rounds.

In extemporaneous speaking, Stan Zwerling won a superior rating in two out of two rounds, bringing him a public recognition and a superior certificate. There were only four such ratings given out among the 35 participants in extemporaneous speaking, Dr. Paul said.

In three rounds of oral interpretation, Gene Licka brought back good, excellent, and superior ratings. Fred Elsasser won two good ratings and one superior in oratory.

'Well Pleased'

Dr. Paul said he was "well pleased" with the OU team. He said the tournament, with 42 schools from 11 states represented, is now one of the largest in the nation.

March 15 and 16, the OU debaters are to participate in the annual cross-examination debates.

New Angle Is Added To Exchange Party

Delta Rho Gamma has added a new angle to the sorority-fraternity exchange parties.

The fraternity will play the sororities in volleyball. A traveling trophy will be given to the girls who score the most points.

Three games will be played with one sorority each week. Chi Omega lost two out of three Feb. 26.

Sophs Start New Closed Circuit TV

March 6, marks the inauguration of a new closed circuit television broadcast here at the University of Omaha.

Created by sophomores Tom Leverman and Richard Marreel, "Issue '63" is a panel question-and-answer show, and will feature guests from education, government, and business fields.

To Run For 5 to 7 Weeks

The half-hour programs are to be channeled into room 256 of the Applied Arts building, through KWOU-TV, beginning at one o'clock Wednesday. The weekly show is scheduled to run five to seven weeks and is open to public viewing.

Tom Leverman, a radio-TV and geography major, said the first guest is L. M. Wells, general sales manager for Northwestern Bell Telephone Company. First National Bank trust officer Robert Dahl is scheduled to appear March 13.

Local Officials

Leverman added that future guests may include local and state government officials, business and educational leaders.

He said the first "Issue '63" program will be 15 minutes longer than subsequent ones because a special film on educational television is to be shown.

"We are doing this primarily to show the uses of closed circuit TV for educational purposes and to show the benefit which it could have for the campus," Leverman said.

Jerry Johnson is to be moderator for "Issues '63." Guests will be questioned by four OU journalism students.

More Bowlers On OU Alleys

Bowling is slowly catching on at OU's four alleys. Bob Haselton, game room manager, said that bowling has nearly doubled since the alleys were opened over four months ago.

Mr. Haselton said that the gain in terms of lines bowled a week has been gradual.

The rates may have something to do with the increase in bowling. When the alleys opened on October 8, the cost was $2.40 per alley per hour. During the first few weeks there was an average of about 290 lines bowled per week.

The cost of bowling was changed to 40 cents per line on the 29th of October, and to 35 cents per line on November 26.

For the past few weeks the average has been over 500 lines a week. This total does not include the four bowling classes which meet twice a week.

The bowling alleys are part of the self-supporting operation of the student center. The alleys were originally purchased and installed with auxiliary equipment for $33,044.79. This money came out of the Student Center Operations Fund which does not get any of the tax money for OU, Comptroller Harold Keefover said.

THE CURSE OF THE CAMPUS: NO. 1

Hate me if you will, but I must speak. We college types are far too complacent. Sure, we've got plenty to be proud of. We've got atom smashers, we've got graduate schools, we've got new peaks in scholarship, new highs in academic honors. And yet, in the midst of these triumphs, we have failed dismally to make any progress in solving the oldest and most horrendous of all campus problems: we've still got roommates.

To be sure, all roommates are not bad. There is the well-documented case of Hilquit Glebe, a student at the Manhattan College of Agriculture, majoring in curds and whey, who admitted publicly that he actually liked his roommate—an odd admission when you consider that this roommate, Mervis Trunz by name, was frankly not too winsome a fellow. He practiced his tympani in his room, he kept an alligator, and he collected airplane tires.

But, on the other hand, Mervis bought two packs of Marlboro Cigarettes every day and gave one of them to Hilquit and—I ask you—who can stay mad at a man who gives you Marlboro Cigarettes? Who, upon tasting that flavorful blend of Marlboro tobaccos, upon drawing through that pure white Marlboro filter, upon exulting in this best of all possible cigarettes, Marlboro—who, I say, can harden his heart against his neighbor? Certainly not Hilquit. Certainly not I. Certainly not you, as you will find when you scurry to your nearest tobacconist and buy a supply. Marlboros come in soft pack or Flip-Top Box. Tobacconists come in small, medium, and large.

But I digress. Roommates, I say, are still with us and I fear they always will be, so we better learn how to get along with them. It can be done, you know. Take, for instance, the classic case of Dolly-Pitcher and Molly Madison.

Dolly and Molly, roommates at a prominent Midwestern girls' school (Vassar) had a problem that seemed insoluble. Dolly could only study late at night, and Molly could not stay awake past nine o'clock. If Dolly kept the lights on, the room was too bright for Molly to sleep. If Molly turned the lights off, the room was too dark for Dolly to study. What to do?

Well sir, those two intelligent American kids found an answer. They got a miner's cap for Dolly! Thus, she had enough light to study by, and still the room was dark enough for Molly to sleep.

It must be admitted, however, that this solution, ingenious as it was, had some unexpected sequelae. Dolly got so enchanted with her miner's cap that she switched her major from 18th Century poetry to mining and metallurgy. Shortly after graduation she had what appeared to be a great stroke of luck; while out prospecting, she discovered what is without question the world's largest feldspar mine. This might have made Dolly very rich except that nobody, alas, has yet discovered a use for feldspar. Today Dolly, a broken woman, squeezes out a meagre living making echoes for tourists in Mammoth Cave.

Nor has Molly fared conspicuously better. Once Dolly got the miner's hat, Molly was able to catch up on her long-lost sleep. She woke after eight days, refreshed and vigorous—more vigorous, alas, than she realized. It was the afternoon of the annual Dean's tea. Molly stood in line with her classmates, waiting to shake the Dean's hand. At last her turn came, and Molly, full of strength and health, gave the Dean a firm handshake—so firm, indeed, that all five of the Dean's knuckles were permanently fused.

The Dean sued for a million dollars, and, of course, won. Today Molly, a broken woman, is paying off her debt by walking the Dean's cat every afternoon for ten cents an hour.

Week's Question

By MARY BETH MEYERS

I decided to play roving reporter this week. And since there has been some buzzing in the OUampi Room lately about the pros and cons of females in slacks that seemed to be a likely topic for a Question of the Week.

QUESTION: Do you think OU coeds should be allowed to wear slacks on campus?

Susan Rester
Junior
Education

I think we should be able to wear them in the Student Center and in the library, but not to class. Casual activities call for casual dress.

No. I don't think so because it doesn't look lady-like to me. I think we should wear skirts—even when bowling.

Lyle McFarland
Senior
Foreign Languages

Definitely! In the library and the Student Center casual dress is quite appropriate.

Norm Nelson
Freshman
Engineering

Yes, I think so. If the men can wear jeans why can't the women wear slacks?

John Watkins
Freshman
Education

Yes! I feel sorry for bare legged girls in the winter.

Gary Barkes
Freshman
Engineering

I don't think so because it isn't feminine. I do think it should be permissible at any extra-curricular activities that call for informal dress.

Todd Marsh
Senior
Military Science

No. I personally don't think slacks are appropriate attire in public.

Janine Douglass
Senior
Secondary
Education

There have been times when this rule has been very inconvenient. I don't think slacks are appropriate in classes, but they should be allowed for informal wear in the Union and in the Library.

Bert Kurth
Faculty Member
Intramural
Director

I'm not so sure it's a good idea to wear slacks on campus.

Don Condrill
Senior
General
Education

Absolutely no. Unless it's an activity that calls for something other than a dress.

Foreign Language Contest at OU

High school foreign language students competed in the Twelfth Annual Spoken Foreign Language Contest Feb. 26, 27, and 28. The topic for the contest sponsored by the Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures at Omaha U. was "Monuments of Foreign Lands."

Two students from Omaha area high schools were allowed to enter in each language contest. Awards were presented on the basis of fluency of speech, organization of material, grammatical correctness, proper pronunciation, and understanding of commentaries on slides.

The French contest was held Feb. 26, the Spanish contest was Feb. 27, and the German was Feb. 28.

The one million, two hundred thousand dollar Applied Arts building was completed in 1959.

Transformer Causes Admin. Power Failure

A defective transformer caused a temporary power failure in the Administration Building earlier this week.

A check with the buildings and grounds Dept. revealed that the power was off from approximately 3 p.m. to 7 p.m.

Some of the office personnel left early because of the darkness.

The evening classes were not affected.

University Librarian Breaks Hip in Fall

Miss Ellen Lord, Omaha University Librarian fell on her way to church early Sunday morning and suffered a broken hip.

She was taken to St. Joseph's hospital by rescue squad where surgery was required.

Miss Lord is reported to be recovering but will be hospitalized indefinitely.

Journalism Dept. Hosts Schools

The 1962-63 high school journalism conference is scheduled for March 21 at Omaha University.

Some 30 schools have been invited to attend the affair which will start in the afternoon and conclude with a dinner and presentation of awards in the Student Center.

Each high school attending the conference is asked to submit individual work for the 1962-63 year.

The areas will be judged on the best news story, sports story, editorial, feature story, news photograph and front page.

The conference will begin at 3 p.m. with a panel of Omaha U. journalists discussing various aspects of college journalism.

Also included in the program are leading people in the journalism field from around the city.

The conference is being handled by Paul Peterson, head of the journalism department and Arlo Grafton, former GATEWAY editor.

Committee Debates Engineering Course

A dinner-meeting was held Wednesday evening Feb. 20, in the Student Center by the Omaha University Engineering Advisory Committee. Invited to attend were representatives from local engineering firms in the area.

Advice sought by the committee was whether a demand existed for the engineer technician in business and on new developments in engineering curricula.

Representatives of the more than 30 firms voiced their opinion that such a demand does exist and needs to be filled.

The technician would fill the niche between the professional engineer and the regular skilled worker.

If offered at OU, the technician program would be a two year course in comparison with the regular four year engineering courses.

The three degree programs currently offered by the engineering department include Industrial Engineering, Civil Engineering and a new course being offered for the first time, General Engineering, which is being offered on a trial basis.

NAIA BB Tourney 'Only Possibility'

Athletic Director Virgil Yelkin disclosed this week that an OU bid to the NAIA District 11 Basketball Tournament is "only a possibility." The top two teams in the Nebraska College Conference, Concordia and an unannounced fourth team are slated to begin play on March 4.

The tourney will be held on the home courts of the two top-rated teams in the tournament. The winners of the first two games will play for the District 11 championship on March 6 at a neutral court.

Yelkin, a member of the District 11 committee, is scheduled to meet with the other members of the committee tomorrow to decide upon the fourth team to be entered.

Angel Applications Now Being Taken

All coeds interested in being considered for membership in Angels Flight, an auxiliary of Arnold Air Society, may pick up applications today through March 8 in Room 117 in the Administration Building.

The candidate must be a freshman, sophomore, or junior carrying at least 12 hours and have a 2.3 accumulative grade average.

Each applicant will be interviewed individually by the officers of Arnold Air and Angels Flight.

New Angels will be announced at the Military Ball April 5.

Bob Mundy Does First Remote Cast for Campus Radio Station

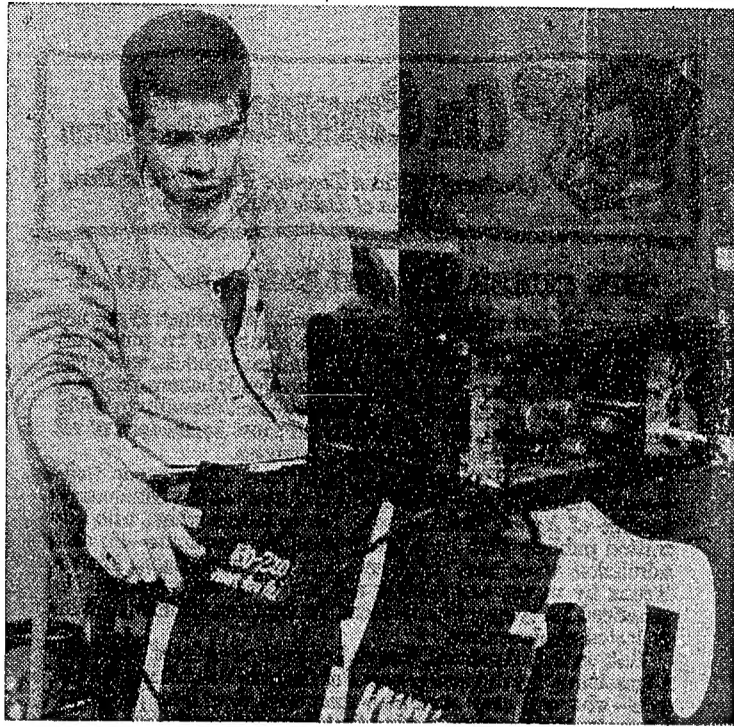

In keeping with new programming plans, KWOU, the University of Omaha campus radio station, this week held its first remote broadcast.

The one hour show originated from the bowling alley area with OU senior Bob Mundy as announcer. Mundy is a Business major who also does extracurricular work for station KWOU.

Music for the show originated from the KWOU studios where Richard Russell, a junior majoring in speech, was at the control board.

KWOU radio broadcasts on 880 k.c. daily from 11:30 until 2, every Monday through Friday while school is in session.

Other new programming features to be heard this semester on KWOU include daily newscasts at noon and one o'clock; "Comment", featuring Bob Mundy and Hans Nohr alternating Friday afternoons with an editorial comment at 12:25; and mystery voice contests, beginning soon, with stereo hi fi records as prizes.

Bob Mundy does KWOU remote broadcast from Student Center Bowling Alley.

University Receives $16,000 Govt. Grant

Omaha University has received a 16,000 dollar grant from the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. The grant will be used in the education of the deaf.

Six graduate students will be chosen to receive 2,000 dollars for tuition. Their fees will also be paid. Applications are now being taken by the Education Department.

This is the second consecutive year the university has received this grant. The two schools for the deaf in the Omaha area will be used as labs.

Desonovich in Charge Of Language Classes

David P. Moore, assistant professor of foreign languages, will indefinitely be absent from his classes. The German instructor has rheumatic fever and hasn't been teaching this semester.

Bootstrapper Ralph Egenmaier temporarily was in charge of the class, Advanced Conversational and Compositional German. Vojislav Desonovich has now taken over the classes, but Mr. Moore hopes to be back soon.

Husker Mat Win Sets OU's Hopeful to Dreaming Again

Louie and Al ... Oh, so close!

by Mike Moran

When any Omaha University athletic team takes on Nebraska University in anything at all it is cause for great speculation on the part of the Indian athletes.

Tuesday night was no exception to this rule. It wasn't a football game before 30,000 fans or a nip and tuck basketball game in the Lincoln Armory. But it was a wrestling match between two evenly matched teams and a noisy crowd that hooted for the Husker downfall that didn't quite come.

You can talk about spirit and you can talk about noise, but there was more concentration of both that night in the Fieldhouse than at any time since the beginning of sports back in September.

Lost in the shuffle was the All-Sports Bowl win, the upset of Nebraska Wesleyan and Roger Sayers' efforts on the cinders.

This was NU ... Bob Devaney's NU and the school where everybody has a buddy or a girl or two. OU lives in the shadow of NU.

OU kids take off for Lincoln for the weekend to see how the other half lives, to see football games and to get the feel of really living in a frat or sorority-house.

Big Chance

This was a chance to get even with Nebraska and say we whipped 'em and whipped them good.

Things got off to a dismal start right away with one Husker pin and a quick decision. Before OU could recover it was 10-2.

Then came what every body had been waiting for, OU's unbeaten Jim Fuxa against NU's unbeaten Mike Nissen at 130 pounds.

Fuxa failed to answer the bell because of an injured knee suffered during practice. The result—five more easy points for Nebraska that put the Indians down for good.

Ken Netwig brought the Indians back with a defensive win and then smooth George Crenshaw, who stalks his opponent like a cat stalks a mouse, took Bob Lott apart in a little over two minutes.

Crenshaw Is Marvel

Crenshaw is a marvel to watch. Runnerup in last year's NALIA 167 pound division, the quiet senior moves with an effortless grace that reminds you of a tightrope walker. He is perhaps the finest wrestler ever to wear OU colors.

But George was not enough to salt the win away. His pin put the Indians up at 13-12 and Mel Masek was next.

Masek had won two previous matches and lost seven this year. Mel is primarily a defensive wrestler. If he gets a point ahead he can wait it out.

Mel got his point with a nifty escape from Ken Fox. The lead lasted all the way until only three minutes to go but Mel was tired.

One slip and Fox was ahead 4-1 and one more and the weary Indians had lost, 4-1.

Curtain Falls

Now the stage was set for Jimmy Jones. Omaha was down by 15-13. A win by Jones would give OU the coveted victory. Jimmy made quite a sight, six-foot-five and 250 pounds and looking mean as Sinbad.

His opponent was Bob Devaney's number two right guard, Don McDermott from Harlan, Iowa.

Jones has been a big disappointment this year but few realize he is a mere 18 years old. He wanted this one bad and nearly got it.

He dropped behind at 2-0 as McDermott took a reversal on the startled Jones. Jimmy tied it up with one of his own and went ahead on riding time in the third period.

One More Minute

Jimmy had only to sit on the weary Husker for one more minute and OU was in.

It may have been the sweaty bodies or just a mental lapse on Jones' part. Whatever it was it was enough for McDermott to escape from his grasp and give the Huskers a tie and the match.

The Indians will have to wait another year to beat NU. The past two times have been oh so close but not quite enough to do it. Most people who are ordinarily unimpressed by the kind of "wrestling" seen on TV would have appreciated this match.

There was more at stake than a belt or a bottle of Geraspeed. But OU students will have to wait another year and keep their chins up when they visit Lincoln.

Track Meet Tonite Rog Shines Again

by Jim Mone

The University of Omaha harriers copped fourth place honors in the College Invitational Indoor Track Meet at Kearney last Saturday while host Kearney topped the point column with 199 1/3 points.

The Indians accumulated 56 points, only to be led by Wayne, 59 points, Doane, 65 1/3, and Kearney. The teams which fell below the Indians were Wesleyan, Hastings, Midland, Chadron and Concordia.

Kearney won nine of the 15 events in the first meet of this type in the area.

Roger Sayers led Doan's Clinton Skinner in the 75 yard dash with 7.4, a coliseum record. Omaha's Mel Wade copped sixth place in the same event.

Wade won third place in the 440, the only Omahan to place while Sayers took first place in the 220 yd. dash.

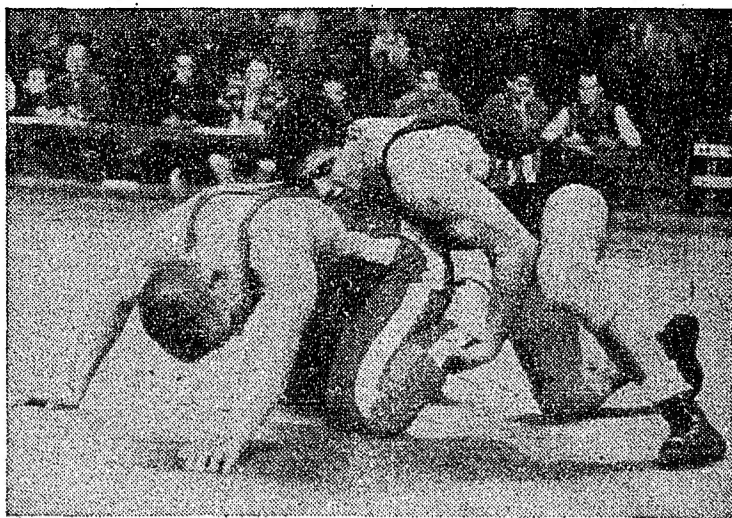

Ray Hultman and Herbie Rhodes placed fourth and fifth respectively in the 880.

Rookie Clyde Ketelson placed fifth in the 100 yard low hurdles and captured sixth in the broad jump with a jump of 19'7 1/4."

The Indians won second place honors in both the mile and two mile relays.

Gerry Richardson, Cristler, Hastings and Knach, Wesleyan all tied for third place in the pole vault with 12 feet. Beachler of Omaha tied with Williams, Kearney and Boyer, Doane for sixth place honors with 11'8". OU will be at home tonight against Morningside, Simpson and Graceland.

Indian Grapplers Fall; NU Wins Bitter Match

DeGeorge ... maneuvers during 6-1 decision.

By Mike Moore

Omaha University wrestlers closed out the season last Tuesday night in the O.U. Fieldhouse losing 17-15 to University of Nebraska matmen.

Omaha lost the lead when Mel Masek dropped a decision in the 177 lb. class to Ken Fox.

A 130 lb. match between Omaha's Jim Fuxa and Nebraska's Mike Nissen expected to produce fireworks didn't materialize when Fuxa was unable to compete because of an injured knee. Nissen won on a forfeit.

Omaha's unbeaten George Crenshaw kept his record perfect by pinning Bob Lott. O.U.'s Ken Netwig decisioned Bruce O'Callahan at 157 lbs. in the crowd pleaser of the evening.

Omaha Heavyweight Jim Jones fought to a 3-3 draw with his Nebraska opponent which gave the Cornhuskers the victory. If Jones had won the verdict would have been reversed.

Last Saturday O.U. matmen journeyed to Sioux City and lambasted Morningside wrestlers 36-0 by scoring a total of four pins.

Omahans John Williams, Phil Goduto, John DeGeorge and Will Shepard did away with their opposition by pins. Jim Fuxa, 130 lbs. with a record of nine wins and a tie decisioned Morningside's Bob Frey 19-12. The loss was only the second for the Iowa grappler who has won 12.

Mel Masek and Jim Jones won by forfeit and Ken Netwig Omaha sophomore at 157 lbs. decisioned David Bolfik, 7-3.

With the victory and defeat added to season totals Omaha matmen finished with a record of six wins and five losses.

Pi Kaps Capture Intramural Indoor Track Meet; Lambda Chi Leads Bowling Race

The Pi Kaps finished well ahead of the pack in capturing the annual Intramural Indoor Track title.

The Pi Kaps topped the second place team, the "O" Club by 20 1/2 points, 61-40 1/2.

The Sig Eps finished a close third with 39 points.

The big man for the Pi Kaps was Jim Marquiss, who won three events, breaking two records and tying one.

Marquiss' records came in the high jump and broad jump. In the high jump he cleared a height of 5' ft. 9 in. and leaped 21 ft. 1 1/2 in. in the broad jump. He tied the record in the 60 yd. low hurdles with a time of :07.7.

Marquiss combined with Jim Hoenshell, Mike Sweet and Steve Gidley to give the Pi Kaps the win in the mile relay with a time of 4:01.6.

Gidley and Chuck Gauley gave the Pi Kaps their other win by tying in the pole vault with a leap of 8 ft. 6 in.

Gould Sparks

Ken Gould was the sparkler for the "O" Club by winning three events, and breaking records in two of them.

Gould ran the mile in a record time of 5:03.5 and set the record in the 880 with a time of 2:14.2.

Gould's other win came in the 440 yd. run with a time of :58.6.

Jim Jones, "O" Club won the shot put with a heave of 38 ft. 6 1/2 in.

The other win in the meet went to Jerry Miller, Sig Eps. Miller won the 60 yd. dash with a time of :06.6.

A total of 60 students entered one or more of the ten events in the meet.

Omaha's Busiest Night Spot

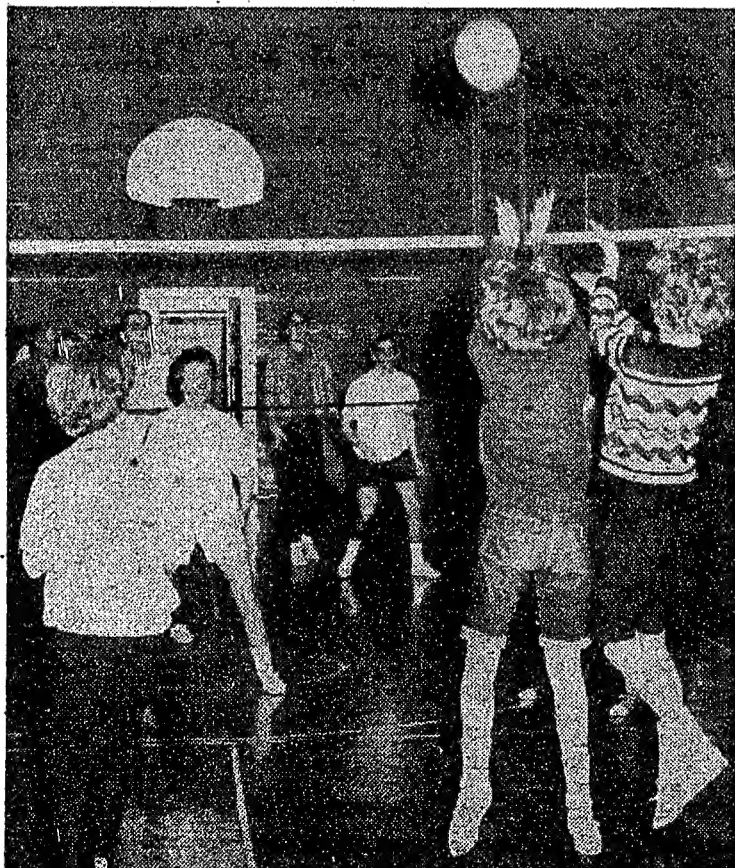

Omaha U Students Working Day, Night

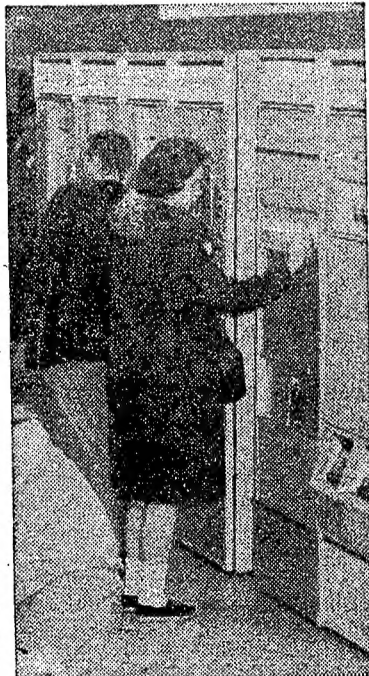

You've heard of building a house for two? But this is ridiculous. They really won the bids on construction of the new wings for the library. Good luck.

They say the OUampi room grows on you. This group is hanging around after the night shift goes home so they'll have good seats when the morning crew arrives.

The results of higher education: You can see this group hasn't learned too much. The guys on one side of the net and the girls on the other.

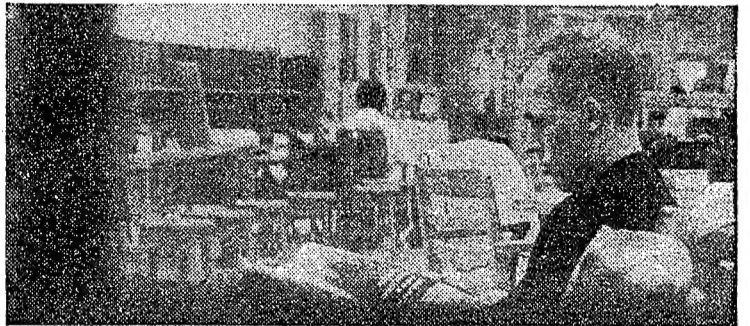

Automation is great. They finally did it. They came up with a machine that makes worse coffee than you get in the OUampi room.

I dreamed I was a little bitty birdie in my . . . actually the two fly swatters are engaging in a WRA badminton game.

Oh no, you can't be real. Nobody spends his nights in the Eppley Library, especially studying.

Cheer up, things can't be all that bad. Union Pacific executives attend management workshop.

Captain George Crenshaw wins 167-pound match in OU's close loss to Nebraska University. Crenshaw pinned-NU's Ken Lott in 2:29. Looks like fun.

Acting coach Louie Mloni gives last-minute instructions to wrestlers George Crenshaw, John DeGeorge and Jim Jones before the Indians take on the University of Nebraska grapplers. Crenshaw and DeGeorge won handily and Jones earned a draw. NU won the match, 17-15. Maybe you should have talked to the rest of the boys, eh, Lou?
